“ With deepest Sympathy to my Co worker family. Krystal Gray was a sweet person, Very Challenging .However it didn't work for me, I just asked to see the books and kept smiling.
We had those animals vibes in common, I knew when she had her furry friends with her, she would have a different purse, I would say I know you got one in that purse, she would look at me and keep walking .. Oh how I enjoyed the attention she gave them Yes, she was in control. that's Krystal, I only wished I knew how she did it, Rest on my friend you was special.

“ Oh my, where do I begin. The shock of you being gone is still brand new. My sincere condolences to your sons; Lee & Jay; Sister's Pam & Cindy and the rest of your family. I uploaded some pictures of Krysta while she was at the Agency (AFHRA) with us. Krysta was like a sister to me. We shared some secrets, had our own very strong opinions about things, laughed, cried, and ate many meals together. We had a group of ladies from AFHRA that her Mom Mrs. Phyllis called 'The Lunch Bunch' we would all go to Mrs. Phyllis house for lunch and times of laughter during Christmas season. Mrs. Phyllis would have each one of us a care package full of homemade goodies to take with us. I remember being invited to Wedding Rehearsal Dinner, Baby Showers, Birthdays, etc. Those amazing hamburger meals that Skip would cook and sometime just to sit and talk about life. Krysta and I would burn the midnight oil at the end of the Fiscal Year together I know for 10 years (maybe more) She left me and went to work at JAG but we stayed in touched. I can go on and on about the many different times we shared together but I just want to say to the family...Krysta loved y'all. Her eyes would light up when she talked about each one of you. Lee & Jay you were her treasures. If she could have wrapped you both up and kept you with her forever she would have. After the Grandchildren were born everyone was thrown to the backburner on the stove. She loved, loved them. I know those Fur Babies were the apple of her eyes as well. They could do no wrong. I totally get it; we both loved animals; but I loved the Donkey's from a distance. They were cute to look at from far away but I wouldn't dare go too close. I'm missing her laugh, and that sharp tone she would get when she would say "Al_Right" with her extra thick

'Southern Drawl' she had. When I first met her I would always say "What did you just say" You know I grew up in Georgia and I didn't think I had a "Southern Drawl" (well at least not as thick as Krysta) but as time went by everything was just fine. We never get to say goodbye to people because we have no idea when they or ourselves will go home to be with God or as Krysta would say "The Good Lord" Well my friend Krysta with the strong firm exterior but such a loving, caring, big soft hearted person on the inside.(That you refused to show the world; but I can tell that secret now) Gone too soon! Love ya girl! Your Friend Vickie Jones

“ Well, what can I say? Krysta and I talked, laughed, planned, cried, and even fussed. But, we were forever friends. I will miss her. I'm so sorry for her sons and their families as well as Pam and her family. I'm always here if any of you need me. My deepest sympathy!
