“ I sure do miss my granddads and father. "I Can Only Imagine" is a song that comes to my mind when I think of the Glory that they are experiencing in the presence of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. May I live in a manner that would be so pleasing, selfless, and kingdom serving as these men.

Personally know he helped many patrons, particularity widows about Prattville, witnessed occasions did not accept their pay, when ask what do I owe?

“ What defines a man is having a sudden crises reveal his inner core, when who he is comes through without a mask or filter. When I was 14, and washing cars at Herrod's standard Oil for Uncle Donald, his son pulled a gun from a customer's glove compartment, pointed it at me and fired. He missed me, but shot a hole in the driver's door. Any ordinary father would explode in anger, and say and do things that don't exactly originate in the spirit. Donald Herrod was no ordinary man. That crises revealed a man that lives out his beliefs as he offered comfort and assurance to me, his son, and integrity in making things right with the customer. It makes a world of difference to have a man demonstrate to a 14 year old how to live as opposed to just telling him how to live. As I look at his kids and grandkids, and anyone else that knew him, I can see he passed own his legacy by doing, not just telling, and I am so proud to have been one of those benefactors of grace.

“ I just found out today of Mr. Herrods passing. I only met him one time about a month ago and I rent his house in Prattville. This man was so kind and friendly. I wish I would've met him more than once but I will always remember how he was so sweet and a very caring person.

“ From the first day I met Mr. Herrod I could see him living out his faith. We met in 1974 when I first moved to Prattville from a small town in Kentucky with my husband. Mr. Herrod was always very cordial and did not mind answering a lot of questions from someone who didn't know too much about cars and whose husband worked nights and slept during the day. If we had any issues, it would be me taking the car for repairs. He was always patient with me and I considered him to be a fine man and an excellent example for the young men of today. He will be missed.

“ I found this in mama's desk, it was in daddy's, Aaron's, handwriting. These things shall pass and some great morn we'll look back and smile at heartaches we have known. So don't forget - when shadows gather- the Lord our God is still the King upon His throne. A rose looks grey at midnight but the bloom is just as deep - and steel is strong because it knew the hammer and white heat. These things shall pass and life be sweeter. When love and faith be strong they cannot long endure - - - so lay your worry - the darkest hour is one hour before dawn - so hold up high and face your trouble and don't despair if you must face them all alone.

With the loss of Uncle Donald, I pray this speaks to you as it spoke to me. He will be missed by so many.

“ Donald Herrod was a long time friend of mine and my family. All my memories of him are of kindness and service to others. What an honor and privilege to have known him. He walked the walk of a man who loved Jesus. It has been said that a man's life cast a shadow. Donald Herrod's life cast a beautiful shadow because he faced the Son. - W. Larry Hunt
