“Dot is a beautiful soul, and may she Rest In Peace.”

Dot was a beautiful, kind and generous person. I can't remember the exact day I met dot or her husband Howard. For as long as I can remember Howard and dot have been part of my life. They were more than just neighbors to me, they were family. Dot taught me generosity and kindness. If anyone needed anything dot was the first person to stand up and help out. Howard and dot where always there to lend a hand to my family. Dot taught me patience and morals. Dot showed me how to enjoy the little things in life. From taking walks at sunset and feeding the little critters in her front yard to watching old movies and eating peanuts. Dot always welcomed me with open arms. Dot was the type of person to help me with my homework. She was the type of person to go out of her way to help me learn vocabulary words. She and I used to take walks and review words while we walked. We used to make up all these funny ways to remember a word and their meanings. At the time i would've preferred to playing in the shed then learning vocabulary words. But dot would always remind be how important it was to stick with it. She would never let me doubt myself. I remember I used to play in this old black shed in front of my house. When I would be hanging out in there dot would often walk by and say hello and we'd chat a while. I remember the day dot decided fix up an old shed because the children next door loved to play in the shed. Dot had a lot of love to share with family and friends, and when she cared for you there was no doubting it. A favorite memory of mine is actually with Howard and dot. I remember sitting in dots living room with my mom and little sister on the couch, Howard and dot in chairs and I sat on the floor. Snickers of course was the life of the party, he was running back and forth between us all while we laughed and listened to this little dancing dog toy dot had. It was just this adorable talking and dancing dog. It would say these pickup lines and we would all laugh and repeat what the dog said. Afternoons like that were just ordinary, but the best. Dot was one of the most amazing people I have ever had the pleasure of knowing. I love you dot. I miss you greatly. You'll forever be in my heart. □
