“ A Native American Prayer

*Do not stand at my grave and weep;
I am not there. I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds that blow.
I am the diamond glints on snow.
I am the sunlight on ripened grain.
I am the gentle autumn rain.
When you awaken in the morning's hush
I am the swift uplifting rush of quiet birds in circled flight.
I am the soft stars that shine at night.
Do not stand at my grave and cry;
I am not there. I did not die.*

Gayla dear, now those you have left behind have discovered that hearts do keep beating, even after they break. There isn't heartbreak if there hasn't been joy and you gave us all such joy. You live on because you are in our hearts. No one could ever replace you.

“ i met Gayla when i was 17. i had gotten into Hojons and then when she found out she told me i had to leave but she would personally buy me a drink when i turned 21. Well, 4 years later, she did. Gayla has always been one of my closest friends. someone that i could go to if i needed someone to talk to, needed to crash, or even a ride home. she knew my good side, my bad side, and she loved me regardless. she loved animals as well as people and anytime she came over, she always showed my dog Sable love. Gayla has been to the mountaintop and back down. She has been there done that and has the evidence to prove it. Gayla was an example of what a true friend was. I know that my heart breaks knowing that i won't be able to call her and hear her voice anymore. All i can do is believe that she is in a better place and is watching over ALL OF US!!! So Gayla, i love you and will miss you greatly. The world is a little darker now that your shining light is gone. all my love and prayers to your family, sincerely James J skinner

“ I met Gayla in 1975 when she had come to Tuscaloosa to go to college. He not only fascinated me but became my mentor. I will never forget when you hit the stage at the Chuckker and you did the # Betty Davis Eyes. I was blown away. I met you after the show, we went to Birmingham and CUT UP as you always said and became fast friends after that. Thank You for all the make up instructions that Perry Whitlock gave you and you passed on to me. I always enjoyed seeing you at Backstreet in Atlanta and all the fond memories we had when could visit with each other. You are with all the Tuscaloosa and Montgomery angels now & you know I will always love you. To your family I say "you are going to miss one fine person who really cared about other people". Rest in Peace baby girl, till we meet again. Love Always, Nasty Naydean. AKA "Erwin" Love and kisses.

I met her while in Barber School in 1975- I doubt if many of you remember The Rainbow- She borrowed my shoes and dresses and gave me advice about men. She always had a sympathetic ear and an encouraging word for everyone. She was truly the Grand Mistress of Ceremony of Montgomery. Save a front row seat for me on the other side...

“ *I remember the first time I saw Gayla perform at Cerays, a long time ago. I don't think that any of us could have known what a force of hope and love that she would become for everyone that she touched. Gayla inspired so many people who may have been struggling with their identity and took them under her wings. I will always remember her smile and positive attitude, it should be an example for us all.

“ My forte is words. But, I am at a loss and have inadequate words to express the impact that Gayla had upon so many folks who we're hurting or lost. These are some words that fit: gracious, strong, caring, talented, creative, wise, loving, phenomenal, self-assured, brave, happy. I would have to go through a dictionary to find all that apply. Perhaps "superlative" sums it up. Gala, we love you and all that you did to make our world a better place. Now, you're with your own, the angels. Thank you for making us better.

“ I met Gayla back in 1983 on my nineteenth birthday. Here I am, this country girl. I had never seen anyone so glamorous. So beautiful ! With those eyes and that smile . Starstruck ! She taught me how to do my makeup and hair . LOL! This little straight girl wanted to be just like her. She was, is larger than life. Sometimes my self esteem is a little bit less than good, she built me up. She was fun, funny and gracious.

I'm so glad I knew her. I know up in heaven , they're having a huge celebration, welcoming her home. That wonderful laugh ringing out. Gayla loves a good party and this one`s for her.

“ I knew Gayla, not as well, unfortunately as a lot of people did. She scared me the first time I met her. Like many I was shy, new to this world and wasn't sure exactly what I was seeing. But then she smiled and that smile won me over. From then on she remembered my name, she hugged with the might of an entire family reunion and she always wanted the best for the people she knew. Hers was a soul that was old. I think she knew the power she had in montgomery as sort of a godmother to lost boys and girls as they made their first venture into "neverland." I remember her fondly and I regret that I never got to say goodbye or just how great of a person I thought she was. I've learned a lot about Gayla the past few days and to see how many lives she touched just here in montgomery tells us more about her than most of us ever knew. Be kind, smile and cut up and life will be good. -chris “ Diva....It's a word that get tossed around all to often now a days and has lost its 'true' meaning. Today, "Diva" has the connotation of "bitter queen," someone with a "bad attitude," or someone that acts out for attention because they think it's somehow owed to them because they had to endure a tough childhood or high school. Back in the day, the term "Diva" meant something different and was reserved for only a select few. The term "Diva" was at the same time the highest form of endearment and respect, easily trumping the rank of "Queen", for the rank of "Diva" was not a birthright... It is not a sash you can earn in any pageant that you can win....It is something you earn by "commanding" attention and respect through perseverance, respect, and grace....This was Gayla Delust, a true "Diva!" in every sense of "that" meaning and more...

I have many a fond memory of this kind soul, as a friend and as a neighbor... and many a story that should be told....She will live on through my stories. She will live on through your stories. She will live on in our community, and shall always be revered as Gayla Delust, Kindest of Souls and a true, "DIVA!".....

Gayla was an institution for Montgomery. I only saw her perform once on stage. My fondest memories of her are at Michael's Table and her wonderfully funny stories she told at the bar. Many friends have visited Montgomery and she always made them feel that they were part of the "family". Her warmth and charm always enveloped everyone she met. She was the example of being exactly who you are and not being bashful or afraid. She inspired many by setting her course in life.

She will be missed in countless ways but our memories of her will keep us all smiling and a little warmer at night when we feel like the rest of the world has become colder.

“ So many laughs, so many smiles and now,
dear Gayla, you have broken our hearts.

I'm sure your good deeds and works for so many, throughout your life, many times putting the needs of others before your own, is now returning in great ways.

*"One by one they came
Far as the eye could see.
Each life somehow touched
By your generosity.
Little things that you had done,
Sacrifices made,
Unnoticed on the earth
In heaven, now proclaimed.*

*And I know up in heaven
You're not supposed to cry.
But I am almost sure
There were tears in your eyes.
As Jesus took your hand
And you stood before the Lord.
He said, "My child, look around you.
Great is your reward."*

God bless you, dear Gayla...will never forget you.

“ Many often said Gayla was an institution. She was indeed. Anyone who "went out" in Montgomery knew of and enjoyed Gayla. My favorite performance of hers was of "Lookin' for a City" by Vestal Goodman. Gayla was dressed as a nun and beat the Good Book on her hands and knees like no one's business. She was so funny but remained tasteful in her spiritual performance. As all fans of Gayla know, that was rare. :) It was the best! Who can think of Gayla without smiling?

I never saw Gayla at Michael's Table. But I recall the last time I saw her was at Club 322 following a friend's birthday party 6 years ago. I was at the bar and she came and sat down in full glam wearing a fab bracelet made from a thick, institutional-sized toilet paper roll. It was totally bedazzled and jeweled. She was fun and gracious as ever. She will be missed and talked about by many for decades to come.

“ I am absolutely heartbroken over the loss of our dear Gayla. It may sound like a cliché to say that she was loved by everyone,,but she was. We have not only lost a fantastic friend but a superstar and legend. There is no way to estimate the countless people whose lives she has touched. My first memory of Gayla was back in the 80s after she had broken her leg and appeared onstage with a cast and walking on crutches and performed her heart out for her crowd. That is just the type of tenacious lady that she was. I cannot count the times she has made me laugh myself to tears, and now those tears flow again, for I have lost a friend, a hero and an inspiration. Gayla I love and miss you and will never ever forget your warmth and smile "Cut up! Gayla!" Goodbye see you on the other side. Eternal rest grant unto her O Lord and may Perpetual Light shine upon her..
