“ I want to express my sadness for the loss of your dear loved one, Hollie. Death is a terrible thing and when it happens unexpectedly it can be one of the most painful things you can experience in this life. The Bible offers comfort for person who is experiencing this loss. First of all it lets us know that the person is not suffering anywhere at Ecclesiastes 9:5 it says that at death we are no longer aware of anything Jesus compared death to a very deep sleep. He also is the only one who can awaken a person from death as he demonstrated several times in the Gospels accounts in the Bible. These and many more accounts can give us comfort in our time of grieve. I will pray that the God of all comfort will comfort you by means of his Word the Bible. My prayers are with you at this very difficult time.

“ I cant believe your gone, I'm emotional today & know that you would laugh in my face. I'll miss you girl, i cant believe i wont see you until God calls me home. Tell Kayla we all said Hello & Love her. I'll never forget your beautiful face & i hope that God can find a way to mend your family during this terrible time. You were so full of life and ill never forget all our times together- like when we all lived together in Boylson- Those were happy times. You were such a hoot & i promise to never forget all that i no about you. and i promise i do not have one bad memory. I pray God is in the hearts of all your family & friends . I wish i would have hugged you when i seen you last friday- i wish i would have known that would be the last time that i would see you. But things happen for a reason and life does not stop. We have to keep going. I know you hear me pray for you, i know you hear me pray for your family and our friends and i know that you love us and i know that God wanted something different for you. I know where your heart stood and i know that you know that i love you angel, Fly High Hollie. We'll see you when the Lord is ready. I pray for your mother Hollie, i hope that God will help see her thru until he brings her home to you.
