“ L.D. was like a brother to Luke Abernathy and I. When you saw one you most often saw three. He was a very humble man of great integrity, who worked hard and was an invaluable asset, but never sought credit. He didn't have to. We all knew. He was the smartest "dumb ole country boy" I've ever met. But most of all, he was an honest and true friend. We all loved and respected him. The family can rest assured that God loved him too, and that L.D. will be waiting and watching over you until the time to be once again be reunited, and the circle will once again be unbroken..Gob bless you L.D., and may your family keep the faith and have "the peace that passeth understanding".

A good man and a good friend all around. We were co-workers and shared many work and family related discussions. I share this tid bit. One day he told me that he never learned to tie a neck tie. So, I mentioned that I learned to tie a neck tie after joining the Air Force so many years ago. Being in civilian attire, with a neck tie on, I took mine off and we did a demonstration performance right there on the spot. He was ready for the lesson and got with it right away. We were both very pleased with such quick accomplishment. Rest in peace friend LD.

LD was one of the first folks I met at Gunter when I got there PCS in March 1991. Never will forget him. He was a pleasure to be around and his wit and sense of humor was a natural gift. GOD BLESS your family LD and rest in peace My Brother.....
