“ I just read about the recent death of your loved one. The Bible calls death an enemy and that is certainly how it strikes us, as an enemy. Take comfort in knowing that the loving God who created us did not want us to suffer in tears of pain. “He will actually swallow up death forever, and the Sovereign Lord will certainly wipe the tears from all faces. And the reproach of his people He will take away from all the earth, for God himself has spoken [it].” Isaiah 25:8. My thoughts and prayers are with you in your time of grief. May your memories, as well as these few words, bring you a measure of comfort.

“ ANOTHR FRIEND HAS GONE HOME
MARK MCCLELLION

We never know what day it may be that someone we love has to leave. He is now where he no longer feels the pain of his awful disease...He is once again whole and we grieve.

Mark has been a friend to me for so many years...We have shared laughter and also tears. He visited me not long ago and it brought pain to my heart to know his life here wasn't long to be and now God has set his soul free.

Life is such a mystery and I guess that's the way God intended it to be. The not knowing when we may leave is such a blessing sent to you and me.

I am so sorry he had to go but God has plan for each of us we know. He is now where we all someday will be...No more pain...no more not knowing what heaven will be. God promised He would prepare a place for us all and His promises' are never broken. I am sure Mark is smiling down on all of us today and for his children and his family I will pray.

We were not promised a life of bliss but I am sure there wasn't too much my friend Mark has missed. He loved his children this I know for I have watched them both grow into young ladies with lives of their own and Trish has always been there when needed for this is the type of friend she has always been.

I pray for the pain and the troubles they have lived through somehow be put away and continue to live the life that God so graciously gave. We are born, we live and then someday we die and there is no need to question why.

He will be missed by many and remembered by all but it was his time when God made the call. Happy Birthday my friend as your life here has ended and now you will live in eternity just the way God says it will be. Your soul has been set free. I will see you again someday and I will pray for your family while you are gone away for I know in their hearts and in mine you will always be. Thank You God for the life and the memories.

“ My wife Pam and I are very sorry to hear of the passing of Mark. He was a great high school friend and we all had many fun times. He was taken too soon but that of course, is not our decision as the LORD surely has plans for him in Heaven and has been called home.
Please accept our heartfelt prayers and condolences to all family members and friends.
May GOD Bless.

“ I am so very sorry for your loss. Mark and I went to school together for many years and had recently reconnected through facebook. It was evident what his family meant to him by his words and pictures. He will always be with you in your memories and in your heart. Please know I am keeping you all in my thoughts and prayers.

“ Mark will be missed by many, he was a good friend, and really knew how to have a good time. He and I and many other of his friends and family have had alot of good memories together, here in Prattville, and many trips to the beach with his family when the girls and my son was young. We Love You and miss you Old Friend, no more suffering for you. Your friend, Hollywood/MIKE GARRETT.
