“ My dear friend Earl or "Mr. Lucky" will certainly be missed by me. I would sit with TL Mullins and Earl and play a card game called knock for countless hours. It was so much fun every Saturday morning until the Prattville politicians said we were doing some bad gambling. Don't know where they got that we had a great time. Earl always carried his dice with him and would let you make up the bet! That's how much he liked life and the thrill of it. He was also a very good friend on the pool table. His eye was straight and his confidence strong.

We would be sitting there (TLs) and someone would come up to him and before I knew it, he would pull some money out of his pocket and share it with them. That's the kind of man he was. Always ready to help some on their "bad luck" as he called it.

I will miss your handshake and your friendship.
