“ I was deeply saddened today when I received a phone call from my dearest beautiful sister/friend, Patty Costa’s husband, Eddie Costa that Patty had passed away. She is now in the loving arms of her Heavenly Father. Patty was the matriarch of her family, she was my partner in starting Angels of Grace Foster Family Agency in 2000. She lived a full and purposeful life. She had a heart for people and Jesus and never let anything hold her back, even multiple battles with cancer.

I know that heaven rejoiced and welcomed her with open arms, but I know that her beautiful family, and I will greatly miss her presence here on earth. My beautiful sister/friend, Patty Costa has touched the lives of many foster children through her work at Angels of Grace Foster Family Agency, and she has left a wonderful legacy in the lives of so many individuals that had the privilege and pleasure of knowing her. Please keep my beautiful sister/friend, Patty Costa’s loving family in your thoughts and prayers. She will live in my heart forever. ❤️ I can hear the Lord saying to her, “Well done good and faithful servant.” RIP my beautiful sister/friend, Patty. I Love you, and will always love you deeply, Love you, Lisa ❤️🥺

“ Oh gosh, I have to many memories!! Going on vacation every year multiple times, Pismo, Disneyland, Pismo, Solvang, Pismo get the picture. Your mom, your family are our family! I honestly can't remember not knowing the Costa's. I remember Portuguese weekend in Pismo, I was in a dune buggy accident, my mom and your mom took me to the hospital. I was more or less scalped by a Kc lite on a dune buggy. I was freaking out, so Patty went in the with me. As the doctor began to shave the front of my hair off I started crying. Patty kept telling me that I didn't need to be upset I was just a beautiful broken doll and no one would even notice. It took 120 stitches to close my little cut. Patty sat right next the whole time. Patty was the ultimate cheerleader, she and my mom were incredible mothers. I think that's why they were so close. Their children were their lives. I truly wish I could come and say goodbye, your mom will always hold a very special place in my heart. ❤️ It is really hard to picture your dad without your mom, always together... always enlove! love you Eddie, Sis & family, Grant & family. My prayers and love are with you guys XOXOX
